

Natchez to New Orleans Spring Pilgrimage Tour

Tour private homes of Natchez, only open during Natchez Pilgrimage!
Plus stay in New Orleans' French Quarter & visit the WWII museum!

March 8 - 13, 2025

Sat, Mar 8 – We're on Our Way!

Join Dea and journey southward as we head to Natchez, home to one of the largest concentrations of antebellum (pre-Civil War) homes in the country. When we arrive in Natchez this evening, we have a special treat – dinner in a private home, Choctaw Hall! Owners David and Lee welcome us into their home and B&B, lovingly restored to glorious splendor. After a wonderful dinner we head back to our hotel, The Clarion, for the next 2 nights. (Dinner)

Sun, Mar 9 – Home Tours Galore!

After breakfast we meet our local guide, a Natchezian local born and raised here, who will take us around the city of Natchez and lead us to our 3 included home tours this morning. We then enjoy some Southern Hospitality with lunch in one of these amazing antebellum homes! This afternoon is free for you to explore the town, or for $40 more, visit the cotton plantation and Music Museum or take in some additional home tours for an additional fee. Dinner tonight will be at Glenfield Plantation, which survived the Civil War and has been in the Field family since the 1880s. Our tour guide today will have been the owner so you'll already be known to her when we visit their 7,000 square foot home. We'll also enjoy live music as we dine in luxury! (Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner)

Mon, Mar 10 – Laissez les bons temps rouler in New Orleans!

We check out of the hotel after breakfast this morning and head across the river to Louisiana. Our first stop is in Baton Rouge, where we tour the Louisiana State Capitol, which at 450 feet tall is the tallest state capitol building in the United States. Learn about former Governor Huey Long as we watch the Ken Burns documentary chronicling The King Fish's reign. Learn how he ran Louisiana even when he was a Senator in D.C. See the building that reflects the outsized impact he made on both the state and the country. Then it's off to New Orleans, the Crescent City, where they like to "Laissez les bons temps rouler" or "Let the good times roll!" We stay two nights in the French Quarter at Hotel Ste. Marie, so no need to ride in from a hotel out by the airport! Tonight dinner is at the famous Court of Two Sisters, where we enjoy some of the best food in the city! (Breakfast, Dinner)

Tues, Mar 11 – National World War II Museum and Time to Explore

Enjoy breakfast at the hotel before we visit the National World War II Museum Complex with five buildings.

Formerly the D-Day Museum, the National World War II Museum thoroughly explores the conflict, from the events that led to the war to the impact it had on our lives today. There are sections dedicated to both the European and Pacific theaters, as well as a movie narrated by Tom Hanks that we have included in your admission that serves as tribute to the courage and sacrifice the men and women made to protect democracy. The rest of the day is yours to explore, to try some of the famous restaurants or just have a famous Beignet and coffee in the park. Join Dea on a streetcar ride or go shopping in the French Market. (Breakfast)

Wed, Mar 12 – A Morning at Leisure and Jackson, Mississippi

Enjoy breakfast at the hotel and a free morning in New Orleans before we bid farewell to Louisiana. We are heading to another state Capitol, this time in Jackson, Mississippi. Known as the “New Capitol” by the locals, this 1903 building is the 3rd Capitol built in Jackson and is known for its classical revival architecture and is constructed with more than 10 types of marble from other states and countries around the world. We arrive at our hotel in Jackson, the Drury hotel where we enjoy the food and drinks at happy hour. (Breakfast, Heavy Apps)

Thurs, Mar 13 – Homeward Bound

We depart after breakfast and make our way homeward. We will stop for lunch in Memphis, TN, famous for its music and great BBQ. We then continue North and arrive home this evening.

We sincerely hope you have enjoyed our time together experiencing the Natchez Pilgrimage and New Orleans home tours as much as we have enjoyed sharing these unique events with you. Natchez, Mississippi is truly the epitome of antebellum home preservation. And New Orleans still has the personality of no other city along the river. Thank you for traveling with us! (Breakfast)
